Surplus stock of petroleum products

4344. SHRI RUMANDLA RAMACHANDRAIAH: Will the Minister of PETROLEUM AND NATURAL GAS be pleased to state:

(a) whether the national oil companies continue to be saddled with excess stock of petroleum products;

(b) if so, whether Government are considering any steps since surplus production of fuel is expected to exceed 10000 tonnes for each of these months;

(c) whether the surplus is reported to have been estimated by the Oil Coordination Committee on the basis of a Reliance Petroleum offer of 1,45,000 tonnes for January and 1,25,000 tonnes for February, 2002;

(d) if so, whether this surplus is to be continued in March, 2002 also; and

(e) what steps Government propose to take in this regard?

THE MINISTER OF STATE IN THE MINISTRY OF PETROLEUM AND NATURAL GAS (SHRI SANTOSH GANGWAR): (a) to (e) Yes, Sir. During the year 2001-2002, the demand for petroleum products has been less than the production on several accounts such as slow down of economy, restricted demand for HSD, etc. Upliftment of products from various refineries is done by the Oil Marketing Companies is as per the agreed Supply Plan.

However, agricultural and industrial growth is picking up and economy is expected to show better growth rate during the current year. This is likely to give a boost to the demand of petroleum products.

The oil companies are undertaking several measures including exports to increase the sale of petroleum products.
